- (f) When considering incurring Expenses, the Trustee must have regard to the following overarching principles:

Principle	Non-Binding Practical Example
The Expense Adds Value through Innovation, Investment & Efficiency
Where an innovative solution is identified, the Trustee should be able to invest in future efficiencies of the Trust.	Developing a customised financial reporting platform/framework for the different stakeholders in the governance structure, that can then be utilised in-house by the Trustee going forward.
One-off (or infrequent) upfront investments that build capability/capacity/sustainability of the Trust that are distinct from, and add more value than, recurring / ongoing / repetitive costs in relation to the same solution.	Building a fit for purpose website in a manner that enables ongoing updates to be completed in-house by the Trustee going forward.
The Trustee should look for opportunities to leverage stakeholder interactions/meetings to generate the most impact and minimise costs	Addressing all Agreement Group decisions at the Annual General Meetings, as opposed to seeking additional Agreement Group meetings throughout the year.
Expertise is Required – Cost Effective
The Trustee may need to engage external expertise where it is not cost effective or appropriate for the work to be completed in-house by the Trustee.
The Expense Provides Accountability and Transparency
The Trustee may need to engage external support where the Trustee recognises the need for increased or specialised reporting, or accountability and transparency measures.
The Expense Builds Capacity
There may be External Costs that will contribute meaningfully to the long term sustainability of the Trust.	Engaging Regional Corporations to manage Cultural Land rather than other service providers.

There may be External Costs that support Noongar Advisory Company to transition to the role of trustee.
